DETAILED ACTION

Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 20 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 20 recites a method of "pursuing trademark protection for the device", which is indefinite.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1, 2, 4-11, 14-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by PCT No. WO 00/75924 (cited by applicant).

PCT, WO 00/75924, disclose a portable audio player suitable for use for an MP3 player. The audio player comprises of an ear module (4) to be supported by an ear (Fig 3). The module includes a speaker (130), a memory for storing digitized audio (F), a D/A converter (120), and micro processor (100) (Fig 6) (page 5, lines 18-25, page 7, lines 16-21).

With respect to claim 2, the module comprises in the ear device (Fig 3)

With respect to claim 5, the module comprises a speaker (130) and a controller that converts the stored digitized audio signals to signal useable by the speaker (Fig 6, page 7, lines 16-24).

With respect to claims 6, 11, 15, 17 and 21, the module comprises MP3 recorder, where MP3 files stored in the flash memory.

With respect to claims 10 and 14, the module consists of memory (F in fog 6)

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 2655

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 3 and 12, and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over PCT '924.

PCT '924 disclose the claimed invention except for the ear bud having an ear clip.

As shown in fig 4, there is an ear hook 3 to hold the module on the ear. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to use another method for holding the module over the ear such as an ear clip in order to secure the module over the ear.

With respect to claims 12 and 13, it would be an intended use to make the module and its peripheral device to appear as jewelry. In fact, a device with any design could be claimed to be a jewelry look-alike, it is just a matter of taste.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
